Comments:

1/ Per comments provided by the CQA, based on information from similar customs-trade facilitation management systems and the operational, functional, technical, and customs/border management expertise required for successful agency automation, the proposed legislation aligns with the best fiscal interests of both the agency and the Government of Guam. While a cost estimate is not yet available, the bill authorizes the CQA and the Government of Guam to negotiate the terms, services, and agreements with the UNCTAD prior to any contract commitment.
