Rugby

Student Body Association president, plans to study business administration while pursuing a minor in logistics.

As they prepare to leave Guam, the athletes also recognized the significance of becoming role models for younger players hoping to follow a similar path.

"Going to college already feels like a blessing, but being able to go and play a sport I love is just, honestly, out of this world for me," Rifley said. "I really think being able to come back and ... help teams and help inspire the younger generation will be something that I ... definitely look forward to."

Mafnas hopes their accomplishments encourage younger athletes to take chances and pursue opportunities outside their comfort zones.

"I hope this gives younger generations the courage to put themselves out there and to take the risk of trying new things," Mafnas said. "All of us have a fear of being unsure (about) going out and playing at such a high level ... but if we didn't take a risk ... I don't think we would be here today."

Sablan said the responsibility of being watched by younger players serves as motivation.

"Having that pressure of the younger generation watching me will really help me to push myself harder to become better just for them," Sablan said.

"They say pressure builds diamonds, so I feel like that pressure is going to help me to really focus on everything I can do to become better."

Aldis stressed that success at the next level requires dedication both on the field and in the classroom.

"If you're going to work hard on the field, you have also got to work hard academically," Aldis said.
"[To] younger generations:
just care about your classes.
Keep your grades up. Make sure you're doing well.
Don't slip up, and you can do anything after that."

On a lighter note, the athletes also reference what food they will miss most after leaving the island given Guam's relationship with food culture that they will be leaving behind. Rifley drew cheers from the crowd with her answer of Spam (the Guam version – since she has been hearing that Spam is different stateside), while Sablan chose chicken kelaguen, Mafnas selected kådu, and Aldis, representing his Pohnpeian roots with an FSM dish mention, said he would miss 'fish and kon'.

With their signatures
now official, the quartet joins a growing list of Guam rugby athletes advancing to the collegiate ranks, carrying both their talents and island culture with them as they begin the next chapter of their journeys.

GUAM SPORTS NETWORK
The four rugby players heading to the states are joined by family and friends during their signing to play college ball this fall.

Soccer pitch proposed for Barrigada Heights

Pacific Daily News

Barrigada Heights could see a new soccer pitch and community sports and recreational facilities, if a bill introduced by Sen. Shawn Gumataotao becomes law.

Bill 326-38 would authorize the Barrigada Mayors Office to lease an almost 7-acre parcel, Lot 5382N-R40 in Barrigada Heights, to the Guam Football Association for up to 30 years, to build the facilities.

GFA, Guam's officials governing body for the sport of football—soccer to Americans—could also work out agreements on sale advertising signage, scheduling of games and events, and other matters as part of the lease.

The village mayors office would have full authority over the planning, construction procurement, and upkeep of the facilities, if public funds are used, the bill states.

To get the job done, the mayor would be authorized to seek funding from public and private sources, including grants, donations, and appropriations.

Barrigada's mayor could also provide additional community amenities like walking paths, a children's playground, and community pavilions or gathering areas, if space permits, the bill states.

A public hearing was held for the bill last Tuesday.

"Bill 326 is our latest effort to prioritize public land for public use," Sen. Gumataotao said in a statement. "GFA has the resources to invest in additional sports facilities across our island in support of Guam's families, and the organization made it clear through discussions regarding a similar proposal a few months ago that outside of their Agat and Talofofo facilities, Guam was granted at least two projects, but the organization does not have property for these initiatives."

Gumataotao in March got legislation passed to let the Hagatña Mayors Office lease land in the island's capital for a soccer pitch and beach volleyball court.
