VII	New Business	A. Foreign Graduate Applicant	GBAHE	1210
		i. Physical Therapy – Yeonhwa Jeong Dr. Duenas discussed an applicant who received her foundational, entry-level physical therapy education through a foreign program and subsequently completed a transitional doctoral program through a U.S.-based institution. The discussion centered on whether the applicant was required to have her foreign-trained educational credentials evaluated through the standard foreign credentialing process or whether completion of the U.S. transitional doctorate was sufficient to establish that her education met U.S. standards for the required core physical therapy curriculum. It was noted that the requirements for evaluating the underlying undergraduate education of applicants who complete transitional doctoral programs were unclear, and concern was expressed regarding whether applying the foreign credential pathway in this circumstance would be unnecessarily restrictive. The matter was brought before the Board for discussion and consensus regarding the appropriate educational credentialing requirements for the applicant. The Board discussed the need to determine the applicable educational credentialing requirement based on the governing law, rules, regulations, and Board policies. N. Cepeda emphasized that the Board should rely on the specific language of the law regarding whether the requirement applies to an applicant's undergraduate education or other			Unanimously Approved educational credentials and should use that language as the basis for interpreting and resolving the matter. Further guidance from B. Sablan was requested; however, B. Sablan noted that the matter would require her to look into it and further review the applicable requirements, after which the Board, going by what the law states, could make a determination and vote accordingly. Dr. Miller wanted clarification if the credentialing review for foreign-trained physical therapy graduates involves evaluating both the educational institution and the applicant's transcripts and curriculum to determine whether the education is comparable to U.S. standards. Dr. Duenas explained that foreign graduates are required to have their educational credentials submitted to an approved credentialing agency, of which there are three, with FSPPT facilitating the submission. The discussion also considered whether the applicant's eligibility to participate in a transitional doctoral program through a U.S. institution would indicate that some level of prior educational credentialing had already occurred. However, Dr. Duenas acknowledged that the extent and nature of any such credentialing was unclear, particularly given the increasing number of transitional doctoral programs and institutions. The Board discussed that the applicant currently holds a physical therapy license in New York, where credentialing requirements are established independently from those of other jurisdictions. It was clarified that although New York conducts its own credentialing process, its requirements may not satisfy Guam's specific credentialing requirements, as each jurisdiction may have different standards for licensure and endorsement. The Board recognized that Guam must apply its own requirements when an applicant's credentials are not determined to be equivalent to or more stringent than Guam's standards. Because it remained unclear whether the applicant's foreign undergraduate education was subject to the credentialing requirements applicable under Guam's laws and regulations, the Board agreed that further review was necessary. Members were asked to review the applicable rules and regulations, including the 2022 requirements and the relevant Allied Health Practice Act provisions, to determine the specific requirements for foreign undergraduate credentials. The matter was considered appropriate for tabling until the Board could conduct a more thorough review and reach an informed majority consensus. The discussion also addressed whether the applicant's existing New York license, completion of a U.S. transitional doctoral program, and current authorization to practice should affect the Board's consideration of her foreign undergraduate education. It was clarified that the applicant's U.S. transcripts pertained only to the transitional doctoral program and did not include her undergraduate education. The Board acknowledged that the matter could reasonably be viewed from both perspectives and that further legal and regulatory review was necessary to determine whether the Board had authority to accept the applicant's existing licensure and subsequent U.S. education in lieu of the foreign undergraduate credentialing process. Appreciation was expressed for the objective consideration of both sides of the issue, and the Board emphasized the importance of completing the necessary research to make an informed decision at a subsequent meeting. Dr. Miller expressed the view that the applicant's existing New York physical therapy license indicated that her credentials had already undergone a rigorous review and that she appeared to be eligible for licensure by endorsement in Guam. It was noted that Guam would not be the applicant's first point of entry for physical therapy licensure in the United States, as she was already licensed and practicing in New York. Dr. Miller further stated that if the applicant were seeking initial U.S. licensure through Guam, additional review of her educational institution, transcripts, and foreign credentials would be necessary; however, because she had already obtained a U.S. license and subsequently entered a U.S.-based doctoral program, it appeared that the necessary educational and credentialing requirements had already been addressed. Dr. Miller acknowledged that further review of the applicable requirements was within the relevant subject-matter expertise of Dr. Duenas, but expressed the opinion that the applicant's credentialing appeared to have been completed. N. Cepeda clarified that the matter remained under discussion and asked whether Dr. Miller was making a motion, to which Dr. Miller indicated that he was not yet making a motion and that the Board was still in the discussion phase. N. Cepeda then invited the remaining Board members to provide additional comments and noted that Dr. Miller's position was that the applicant appeared to qualify for licensure by endorsement because she was already licensed and had previously undergone credential review. The Board continued its discussion regarding the foreign graduate applicant, with agreement expressed by Dr. Duenas with Dr. Miller's position that the applicant's existing New York licensure indicated that her undergraduate education and credentials had already been reviewed as part of the New York licensure process. R. Taitingfong noted that the applicant had previously practiced in New York, and based on the discussion, it appeared that she met the qualifications for licensure in Guam. The matter was then considered in the context of the applicant's placement on the agenda as new business and whether the Board was prepared to proceed with approval of her license. Clarification was requested regarding whether the discussion constituted a recommendation to approve the applicant and whether a formal motion should be made at that time. It was acknowledged that the careful review of the applicant's qualifications was appropriate, and N. Cepeda sought clarification on the proper procedural step for moving forward with the application. B. Sablan clarified that the applicant had applied for licensure by endorsement and that the matter had initially been placed on the agenda for discussion, although there was uncertainty as to whether formal approval could occur during the current meeting or would need to be deferred. N. Cepeda stated that, because the applicant was already on the approved agenda and the Board's discussion indicated that she appeared to meet the applicable legal requirements and licensure criteria, the Board should proceed with the matter rather than delay it until the following month. N. Cepeda further noted that the Board could not alter the agenda in violation of applicable public law and requested that a motion be made and seconded to approve the applicant's license. B. Sablan subsequently confirmed that the applicant could be approved during the current meeting because the matter was included on the agenda. Motion to Approve: Dr. Miller; 2nd: Dr. Duenas. late fee, which they had already paid, allowing them to renew for the current renewal cycle. The Board further clarified that the renewal would apply to the current cycle rather than the upcoming cycle and would not become effective until January 1. G. Cruz sought clarification regarding the appropriate handling of the renewal because the applicants had not been licensed for the preceding period and were now seeking to renew for the current cycle after missing the required renewal deadline. The matter was subsequently deferred for further guidance. B. Sablan confirmed that the two applicants had missed the current renewal cycle and explained that payment of the applicable late fee would allow them to renew for the current cycle, which would expire at the end of that cycle. The applicants would then be required to submit another renewal and pay the applicable fee for the following cycle beginning in January. The Board clarified that the applicants would also need to satisfy the continuing education requirements applicable to the current cycle and subsequently meet the requirements for the new cycle. It was further clarified that the applicants would only be eligible for renewal for the current cycle upon payment of the late fee and would need to apply again for renewal in the following cycle. The Board discussed whether the subsequent application would constitute an initial application and clarified that, under the applicable rules and regulations, an initial application would be required only if an applicant missed two consecutive renewal cycles, or approximately four years. Since the applicants had missed only the current cycle, the matter was characterized as a late renewal rather than an initial application. B. Sablan emphasized that the applicants should be notified that the late fee they paid applies only to the current renewal cycle and that, if they elect to obtain their licenses following the meeting, the licenses may be issued for the current cycle with the understanding that they must complete the renewal process and pay the applicable fees for the following cycle. G. Cruz additionally noted that Dr. Balajadia had previously issued both applicants temporary licenses for a period of up to 90 days, and it was suggested that the expiration dates of those temporary licenses be verified to determine the appropriate next steps and ensure that the applicants could continue practicing without interruption. The Board discussed the need to provide the applicants with clear notice regarding the temporary licenses, the applicable late fee, and the requirement to renew again for the upcoming cycle. B. Sablan confirmed that the applicants should be informed that the late fee applies to the current cycle and that they would be required to continue the renewal process for the following cycle. B. Sablan further recommended that the Board take action on the licenses during the meeting to prevent a lapse between the temporary licenses and full licenses, while ensuring that the applicants were provided with the necessary information regarding the current and subsequent renewal requirements. It was stated that the Board could revisit the matter if the applicants chose not to proceed under those conditions, but that the immediate purpose was to approve the applicants for licensure for the current cycle, which would expire later in the year.

		C. San Nicolas asked whether the renewal for the current license period would require the two applicants to satisfy the CE requirements applicable to that period. It was confirmed that the applicants must meet the required CE requirements, and the Board agreed that this information should also be included in the notification provided to the applicants. G. Cruz confirmed that he had reviewed both applications and recommended the applicants for renewal, noting that they had completed the required continuing education; however, he indicated that he wanted further guidance regarding the appropriate process given the lateness of the renewals. N. Cepeda then indicated that the Board would proceed with a vote to approve the two applicants, with a letter to be provided explaining that the late fee applied only to the current renewal cycle and that the applicants would be required to complete another renewal and pay the applicable fees for the upcoming cycle.

Yankees, White Sox, Padres advance, Phillies survive in MLB playoffs

AFF

The New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox and San Diego Padres powered into the second round of the Major League Baseball playoffs on Wednesday as the Philadelphia Phillies produced a late home-run bombardment to stay alive against the Atlanta Braves.

The Yankees wrapped up a 2-0 wildcard series over the Boston Red Sox with an emphatic 9-2 win at Yankee Stadium and will face top seeds Tampa Bay in the next round.

The White Sox — who received a letter of support from lifelong fan Pope Leo XIV before their series with Houston — fended off a spirited Astros to win 7-3 in Texas.

But the Chicago Cubs saw their season come to an abrupt halt in California as the San Diego Padres completed a 2-0 series sweep with a 4-1 victory at Petco Park.

Philadelphia meanwhile came from behind to snatch a 4-3 extra-inning victory over the Braves in Atlanta that squared their series at one apiece, with the decider on Thursday.

Chicago's defeat of the Astros was the latest stop on what has been a remarkable turnaround for the club, who suffered 100 defeats or more in three consecutive campaigns before this season.

Chase Meidroth's three-run homer sealed victory for the White Sox, who will face Cleveland in the American League division series.

"That's everything, man. Coming through for the guys, there's no better feeling in the world," said Meidroth.

After racing into an early 4-0 lead, Chicago saw Houston close to within a run after solo homers from Jeremy Pena, Cam Smith

Philadelphia's Alec Bohm runs the bases after smashing a game-winning 10th-inning home run that gave the Phillies a 4-3 win at Atlanta to level their MLB playoff series and Jose Altuve each walloped solo home runs in the first, second and fourth innings.

But Meidroth's three-run blast snuffed out the Astros fightback.

The Yankees followed up their 9-0 defeat of Boston on Tuesday with another thumping win in the Bronx to set up their division series duel with Tampa Bay.

Outfielder Cody Bellinger produced the moment of the match, launching a three-run homer-run in a six-run sixth inning that put the Yankees into an 8-1 lead.

'Great win'

Philadelphia stayed afloat after their thrilling 4-3 defeat of Atlanta.

In a dramatic comeback, Kyle Schwarber and Bryce Harper hit back-to-back homers in the eighth to equalize before Alec Bohm's game-winning home run in the 10th inning.

"I don't really know what happened," Bohm said. "I was trying to pull the ball to the foul pole and I hit it to right field so I'll take it."

The series winner plays the reigning MLB champion Los Angeles Dodgers in a best-of-five series starting Saturday.

Phillies outfielder Harper, who fluffed a routine catch in the seventh inning allowing Atlanta to seize the lead, found redemption in the eighth.

Harper followed Schwarber's homer off Dylan Lee with his own solo shot to level at 3-3 and the game went to extra innings to set up Bohm's winner.

In the late game on Thursday, San Diego advanced to a best-of-five series against the top-ranked Milwaukee Brewers with a clinical defeat of the Chicago Cubs.

Xander Bogaerts and Ethan Salas drove in runs to give San Diego a 2-0 lead in the second inning, and a two-run homer from Gavin Sheets made the game safe after a single from Chicago's Nico Hoerner had briefly narrowed the Padres lead.
