FROM: Director, Department of Integrated Services for Individuals with Disabilities

SUBJECT: Discrepancy in Educational Requirements for Vocation Rehabilitation Counselor Supervisor Position

Hafa Adai Director Bim,

The DISID Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) continues to experience significant challenges with respect to achieving effective supervision of our Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) Counselors as a result of the long standing (approx. 3 years), hard-to-fill vacancy of the VR Counselor Supervisor position. As a result of this vacancy, such challenges include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Ineffective Case Management (e.g., longstanding stagnant cases, unmet case closure deadlines, IPEs not completed or updated in a timely manner) by VRC's resulting in Disciplinary Issues leading to Adverse Actions;
- Unmet Services/Needs of VR Program Consumers;
- VR Program Participants' & Families' Dissatisfaction; and
- Unmet goals and objectives of Guam's Combined State Plan.

The VR Counselor Supervisor position currently requires a Master's degree in Rehabilitation Counseling with no substitutions permitted. Despite continuous recruitment efforts by the Department of Administration, this strict requirement has contributed to the position remaining vacant for several years.

To address this workforce shortage and improve recruitment, DISID respectfully proposes an amendment to the educational requirements so they better align with national Vocational Rehabilitation personnel practices and current workforce realities.

Department of Integrated Services For Individuals with Disabilities

Dipattamenton Programa Para I Maninutet

The proposed requirement:

- Master's degree in Rehabilitation Counseling or a related field (including Counseling, Special Education, Social Work, Psychology, or closely related disciplines), or an equivalent combination of graduate-level education and qualifying professional experience beyond a Bachelor's degree in a related field.

Across the United States, State Vocational Rehabilitation agencies commonly utilize equivalent-degree pathways for supervisory and counseling classifications due to the nationwide shortage of Rehabilitation Counseling graduates. Many state VR agencies have adopted flexible qualification standards in order to maintain program continuity and meet federal service delivery requirements.

This proposed amendment does not lower professional standards. Rather, it expands the pool of qualified candidates while maintaining competency expectations, supporting career progression for experienced VR counselors, and ensuring adequate supervision of federally funded rehabilitation services.

Approving this modification will help DISID-DVR fill a long-standing vacancy, strengthen program oversight, and improve services to individuals with disabilities, while remaining consistent with national VR practice.

Respectfully,

Michelle D.C. Perez
