Re: Bill No. 330-38 (COR), "AN ACT TO AMEND §§ 61504, 61505, 61506, 61507, 61508, 61510, 61511, 61512, AND 61513; ADD NEW §§ 61505.1 AND 61511.1 TO ARTICLE 5, CHAPTER 61, TITLE 5, GUAM CODE ANNOTATED, RELATIVE TO MODERNIZING GUAM'S ESTRAY LIVESTOCK STEWARDSHIP PROGRAM, AUTHORIZING TEMPORARY MUNICIPAL CUSTODY OF ESTRAYS, CREATING THE ESTRAY LIVESTOCK STEWARDSHIP AND ENFORCEMENT AND PUBLIC SAFETY."

Håfa Adai Mr. Speaker,

Estray livestock continues to present a serious problem in Guam's villages. Whether wandering freely or staked or tied in place, these animals can damage private property, obstruct public rights of way, and create serious hazards for motorists.

During the public hearing on Bill No. 330-38 (COR), testimony described how estray livestock damaged gardens, trampled lawns, and destroyed other private property. Testimony also highlighted the danger these animals pose when they unexpectedly enter streets and major roadways, forcing motorists to take sudden evasive action to avoid collisions. These incidents place drivers, passengers, and others at risk of serious injury.

Bill No. 330-38 (COR) addresses these concerns by granting the Guam Department of Agriculture (DoAG) and our village mayors additional authority to respond to estray livestock. The legislation authorizes the seizure, transportation, impoundment, and temporary placement of these animals. It also establishes procedures for notifying livestock owners and allowing them to reclaim their animals upon providing proof of ownership and paying the applicable costs and fees. Animals that remain unclaimed may be sold at public auction or otherwise lawfully disposed of.

Re: Bill No. 330-38 (COR)

While the legislation establishes a legal framework for addressing the problem, it does not appropriate the funds necessary to make that framework fully effective.

During the public hearing, DoAG testified that it lacks the equipment necessary to transport seized livestock and does not have adequate facilities to house these animals. Our village mayors described similar limitations. Even with the additional authority provided by this legislation, neither DoAG nor the mayors will be able to respond effectively without the necessary equipment, facilities, and personnel.

These are significant practical concerns. We cannot reasonably expect DoAG and our mayors to carry out these additional responsibilities without providing them with the resources necessary to do so.

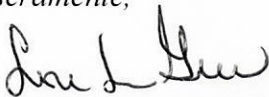

If we are serious about addressing the problem of estray livestock in our villages, we must also be willing to fund the solutions.

Nevertheless, Bill No. 330-38 (COR) represents an important first step toward addressing a longstanding problem affecting our communities and the safety of our roadways. It establishes a clearer process for managing estray livestock and holding livestock owners accountable.

I hope the Legislature will build upon this effort by providing the funding necessary to make these new authorities effective.

For these reasons, I sign Bill No. 330-38 (COR) into law as Public Law No. 38-143.

AN ACT TO AMEND §§ 61504, 61505, 61506, 61507, 61508, 61510, 61511, 61512, AND 61513; ADD NEW §§ 61505.1 AND 61511.1 TO ARTICLE 5, CHAPTER 61, TITLE 5, GUAM CODE ANNOTATED, RELATIVE TO MODERNIZING GUAM'S ESTRAY LIVESTOCK LAWS BY ESTABLISHING AN ESTRAY LIVESTOCK STEWARDSHIP PROGRAM, AUTHORIZING TEMPORARY MUNICIPAL CUSTODY OF ESTRAYS, CREATING THE ESTRAY LIVESTOCK STEWARDSHIP AND ENFORCEMENT FUND, TO STRENGTHEN ESTRAY LIVESTOCK ENFORCEMENT AND PUBLIC SAFETY.

1 BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF GUAM:

2 Section 1. Legislative Findings and Intent. I Liheslaturan Guåhan finds 3 that estray livestock, particularly free-roaming cattle, pose a significant threat to

1 public safety by creating hazards on Guam's roadways and public areas, increasing
2 the risk of vehicle collisions, personal injury, and damage to public and private 3 property. Estray livestock also present health, safety, and welfare concerns for the 4 animals themselves, which may be exposed to injury, starvation, dehydration,
5 disease, unsafe environmental conditions, or other preventable harm while roaming
6 unattended.

7 I Liheslaturan Guåhan further finds that the Department of Agriculture,
8 mayors, law enforcement personnel, and members of the public often encounter
9 practical challenges in responding to estray livestock incidents due to limited
10 holding facilities, transportation resources, trained personnel, operational funding,
11 and clearly defined statutory authority. Existing penalties and cost recovery
12 provisions have not kept pace with the actual expenses associated with the capture,
13 transportation, care, veterinary treatment, and management of estray livestock.

14 I Liheslaturan Guåhan additionally finds that livestock owners, ranchers, 15 farmers, and other qualified members of the agricultural community may serve an 16 important role in assisting with the temporary care and management of estray
17 livestock when government resources are limited. Establishing a structured 18 stewardship program can improve animal welfare outcomes, reduce risks to the 19 public, and support more efficient enforcement and resolution of estray incidents.

20 It is therefore the intent of I Liheslaturan Guåhan to modernize Guam's estray
21 livestock laws by: Strengthening public safety and reducing roadway hazards caused
22 by estray livestock; Protecting the health, safety, and welfare of estray livestock
23 through appropriate handling, transportation, temporary care, and veterinary 24 oversight; authorizing temporary municipal custody and coordinated estray response
25 efforts; establishing an Estray Livestock Stewardship Program to facilitate 26 temporary care placement with qualified custodial caretakers; creating the Estray
27 Livestock Stewardship and Enforcement Fund to support estray livestock

1 management, enforcement activities, and reimbursement of approved expenses;
2 establishing safety protocols and promoting safe livestock handling practices;
3 encouraging voluntary owner compliance, livestock identification, and timely
4 reclamation of estrays; providing appropriate liability protections for persons acting
5 in good faith under this Article; and ensuring that the costs associated with stray
6 livestock management are borne by responsible livestock owners rather than 7 taxpayers whenever practicable.

8 Section 2. § 61504 of Article 5, Chapter 61, Title 5, Guam Code Annotated,
9 is hereby amended to read:

10 “§ 61504. Impoundment and Temporary Municipal Custody of

17 impoundment, custodial caretaker placement, or other lawful disposition by 18 the Department of Agriculture.

19 (c) A Mayor may enter into a memorandum of understanding with

2 constitute ownership or permanent custody of the estray livestock by the
