MEMORANDUM

DATE: September 1, 2026

TO: Daphne Leon Guerrero, Chairwoman

FROM: Nico A.C. Fujikawa, Executive Director

SUBJECT: Trip Report for Honolulu Ethics Commission and the Hawaii State Ethics Commission Inter-Agency Exchange Visit held from August 17-21, 2026.

Hafa Adai,

This memo is to report on the Inter-Agency exchange visit between the Guam Ethics Commission (GECOM), the Honolulu Ethics Commission and the Hawaii State Ethics Commission that I attended from August 17-21, 2026.

As an attending member of the delegation from the Guam Ethics Commission (GECOM) to Honolulu, Hawaii, I was able to directly engage with my counterparts from both the state and county level. During this visit I was able to build institutional knowledge and strengthen working relationships with peer ethics agencies by examining their operations, organizational structures, and key programs, including training and public outreach initiatives, and on-site case-handling practices.

Our visit included strategic briefings, working sessions, and ethics site visits designed to help GECOM better understand each host agency's structure, procedures, and the practical, agency-specific ethical issues those agencies encounter. Insights gained during the visit are intended to inform strategic improvements, enhanced legislative mandates and improve the effectiveness of GECOM's operations, enforcement, training, and outreach efforts.

In addition, I was able to conduct professional courtesy visits with the Hawaii Department of Business, Economic Development and Tourism, as well as with Anthology Research group. These meetings provided key insights into ethical issues that may arise from the latest research trends and use of AI in data collection and analysis, as well as the overall economic health and sentiment of the people of Hawaii regarding such issues.

These exchanges surfaced several themes that GECOM will explore in enhancing our operations and strategic planning efforts:

- A designated, readily accessible point of contact and subject matter expert (such as the Attorney of the Day model) can reduce informal violations by giving officials and employees a fast, low-friction channel for guidance. Since GECOM does not have staff attorneys, exploring options of direct in-depth certifications and training for staff will be explored and implemented.
- Structured, role-specific training (e.g., materials tailored to procurement staff, elected officials, or supervisors) appears more effective than one-size-fits-all training currently mandated and applied GECOM.

This is in line with GECOM efforts for more specialized trainings; however, this should be developed alongside agency visits and department interviews to ensure relevancy and effectiveness.

- Clear public-facing resources and outreach materials help build public trust and reduce the volume of routine inquiries handled directly by staff.
- Assess GECOM's current organizational structure for opportunities to more clearly separate functions. Organizational structures that separate advisory functions from investigative/enforcement functions can help preserve the appearance of impartiality. Hawaii State has clear divisions within its structure to include an office manager for administrative functions, an enforcement director charged with fine assessments and investigations, and an outreach division tasked with updated trainings and events.
- Develop an annual working schedule for site visits, ethics interviews and discussions with various government agencies. Review and update training materials to include role-specific modules for high-risk positions and expand public outreach materials and website resources based on information collected during agency site visits.
- Identify opportunities for continued information-sharing or a follow-up exchange with the Hawaii State Ethics Commission and Honolulu Ethics Commission.

I am thankful for the opportunity to participate in this crucial inter-agency exchange and would also like to extend my appreciation to the Hawaii State Ethics Commission and the Honolulu Ethics Commission for their hospitality and willingness to share their expertise during this visit.

Should you need anything further regarding this report please feel free to contact me.

Si Yu'os Ma'ase'
