Re: Bill No. 361-38 (COR), "AN ACT TO AMEND CHAPTER 8, TITLE 5A, GUAM ADMINISTRATIVE RULES AND REGULATIONS, RELATIVE TO APPROVING THE GUAM COMMISSION ON EDUCATOR CERTIFICATION RULES AND REGULATIONS PURSUANT TO CHAPTER 9, TITLE 5, § 9303(c) OF THE GUAM CODE ANNOTATED."

Håfa Adai Mr. Speaker,

Parents across Guam know that a quality education depends on dedicated teachers, school counselors, and administrators who guide and support our children every day. For too long, qualified individuals who wanted to serve our students have faced unnecessary obstacles to obtaining or maintaining their professional certification. Bill No. 361-38 (COR) provides greater flexibility in our educator certification requirements while maintaining the professional standards our children deserve.

Under previous requirements, prospective teachers were required to pass standardized examinations, such as the Praxis I, to demonstrate basic academic skills. While these skills remain essential, this legislation provides additional ways for applicants to demonstrate their qualifications. Candidates may now use qualifying college coursework from accredited institutions, SAT, ACT, or Advanced Placement examination scores, or a combination of examination results and eligible coursework to satisfy these requirements. This change recognizes the education and experience applicants have already acquired while reducing unnecessary financial and testing burdens.

School counselors play an essential role in supporting our children's mental health, personal development, and academic success. Unfortunately, Guam continues to face a shortage of qualified school counselors. Under previous requirements, temporary school counseling certificates expired after two years and could not be renewed. This meant that counselors who were still completing their educational requirements could lose their certification even as our schools continued to need their services. This legislation allows temporary school counseling certificates to be renewed once, giving eligible counselors additional time to complete their qualifications while continuing to support our students.

The legislation also recognizes the value of practical teaching experience. Candidates with two years of qualifying instructional experience may now apply that experience toward student teaching or internship requirements. In addition, educators relocating to Guam with provisional or temporary credentials from other jurisdictions will have their qualifications and experience considered by the Guam Commission for Educator Certification. Rather than relying solely on the title of an applicant's existing credential, the Commission can evaluate their qualifications and identify the steps necessary to meet Guam's certification requirements. The legislation also aligns school administrator certification requirements with the Guam Education Board's current standards.

Our teachers, counselors, and administrators dedicate themselves to preparing our children for the future. We must do our part to support these professionals and remove unnecessary barriers that discourage qualified individuals from serving in our schools. Bill No. 361-38 (COR) provides practical changes that can help Guam recruit and retain educators while maintaining the professional standards necessary to provide our children with a quality education.

For these reasons, I sign Bill No. 361-38 (COR) into law as Public Law No. 38-159.
